Project Relevance

OFFICE FOR VICTIMS OF CRIME VISION 21

- Prioritized crime victims
- Emphasis on victims' rights enforcement

LACK OF SYSTEMATIC EVALUATION

- What works
- Rights on paper vs. rights in practice
- Costs and benefits

LACK OF STANDARD OF CARE

- Roadmap for practitioners
- Best practices
- Standardized procedures

LACK OF PROGRAM EVALUATION

- Whether services are working
- How victims define a successful outcome

Research Questions

1. How can “effectiveness” of a legal services program for victims of crime be defined?
2. What inputs, activities, outputs, and outcomes should be measured to evaluate the effectiveness of a legal services program?
3. What systems and data are needed to evaluate a legal services program?

Stage 1: Developing the Conceptual Model

What is a Conceptual Model?

Conceptual model: illustrates the pathways to achieving program outcomes

Theory of change: explains how program activities are believed to produce those outcomes

➤ Why a Conceptual Model for Victim Legal Services?

How do you build one?

Project Methodology

Model Considerations

Outcomes are achievable for individuals

This conceptual model is limited to legal services

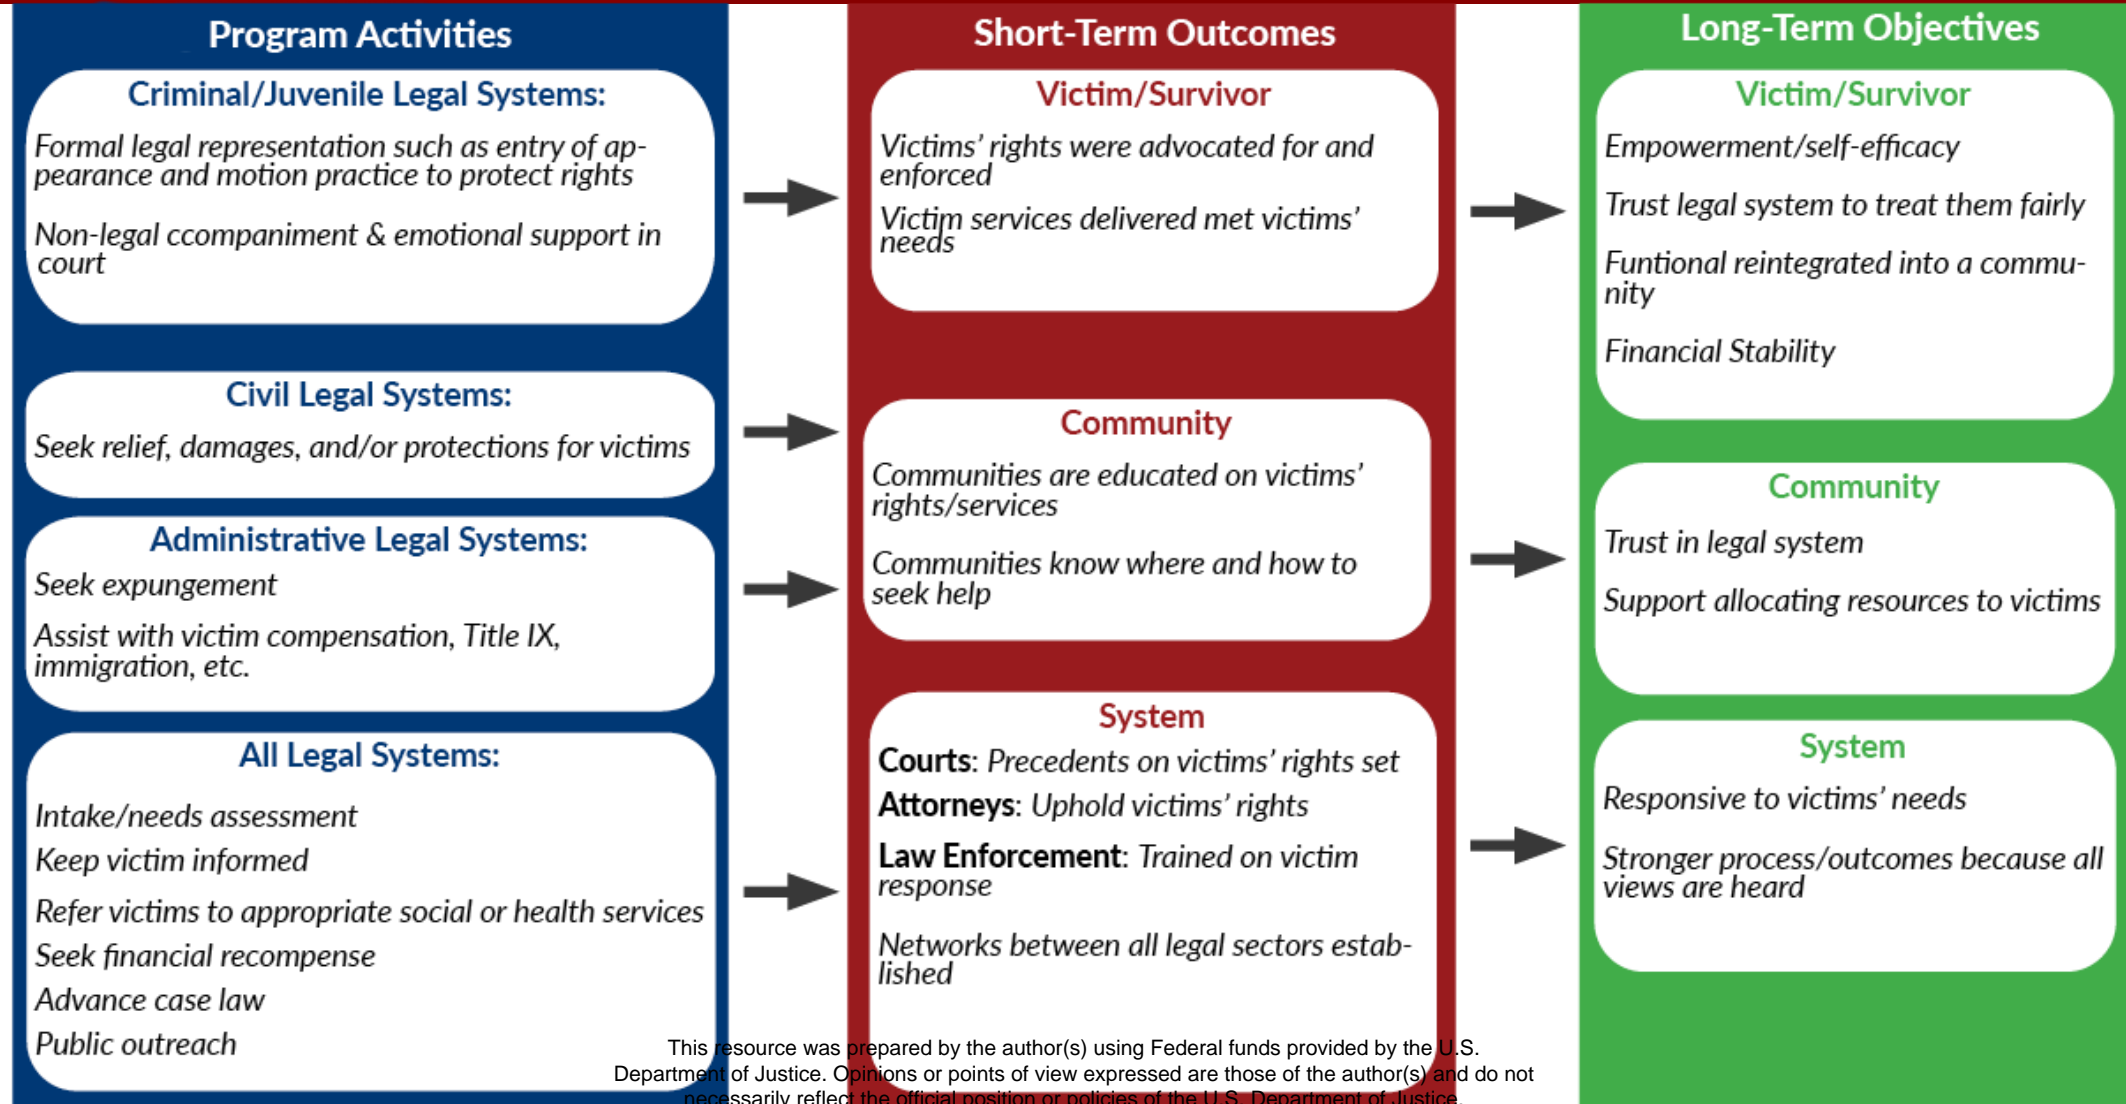

Objectives are ideals to strive for

Providers can customize the model

High Level Model

Theory of Change

Stage 2: Formative Work with 3 Victims' Rights Legal Clinics

Oregon Crime Victims' Law Center (OCVLC)

Maryland Crime Victims' Resource Center
(MCVRC)

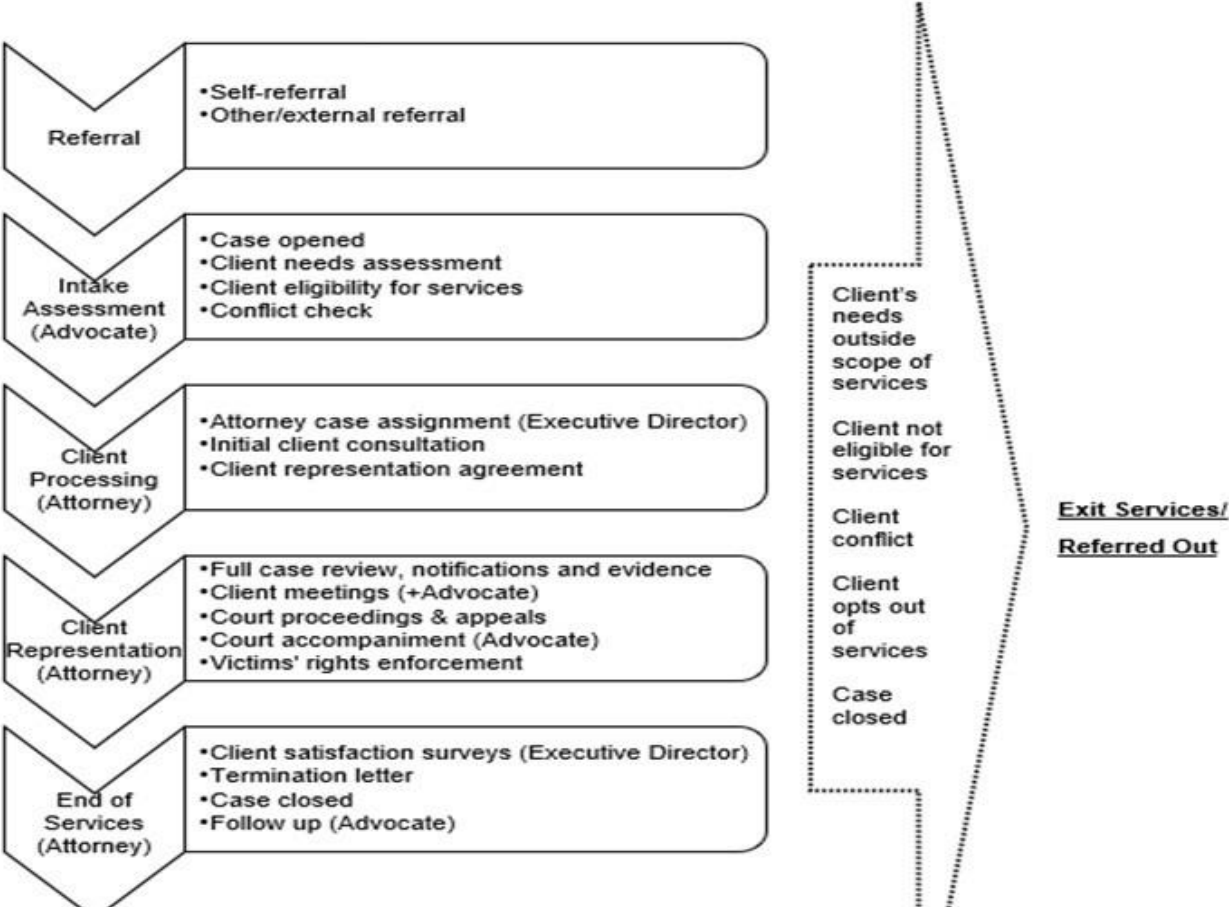

Arizona Voice for Crime Victims (AVCV)

Formative Evaluation Process

- Develop Conceptual Model
- Site visits and interviews to learn about programs
- Create program-specific logic models, process flows
- Identify measures to collect outcome data
- Prepare data collection tools and reporting mechanisms
  - Client survey
  - Organizational data (CMS)
- Test data collection over pilot period
- Evaluate results, determine readiness for evaluation

Create Process Flows

Incorporating the Unexpected

This resource was prepared by the author(s) using Federal funds provided by the U.S. Department of Justice. Opinions or points of view expressed are those of the author(s) and do not necessarily reflect the official position or policies of the U.S. Department of Justice.

Steps in Analysis

Purpose: to assess data for utility for future evaluation

- Data Completeness, Validity, Reliability
- Conceptual Validity – does this data tell us what we want to know?
  - Including comparing multiple measures for same concept – which ones work better?
- Fidelity Testing – will the data collected work to do it?
- Evaluability Assessment

Key Questions: Are these program ready?

Requirements for the effective conduct and use of evaluation:

1. Agreement on realistic program goals given its design, resources, and activities;
2. Agreement on criteria for measuring program performance;
3. Availability of data and information to measure program performance;
4. Ability and willingness to use evaluation results and agreement on how they should be used.

Evaluation Lessons Learned and Reminders

Lesson Learned #1

Lawyers/legal service providers and researchers are two buckets of service providers or two sets of experts.

Reminder

This resource was prepared by the author(s) using Federal funds provided by the U.S. Department of Justice. Opinions or points of view expressed are those of the author(s) and do not necessarily reflect the official position or policies of the U.S. Department of Justice.

Lesson Learned #2

Lawyers/legal service providers and researchers should have ongoing conversations.

Reminder

This resource was prepared by the author(s) using Federal funds provided by the U.S. Department of Justice. Opinions or points of view expressed are those of the author(s) and do not necessarily reflect the official position or policies of the U.S. Department of Justice.

Lesson Learned #3

Lawyers/legal service providers may assess services in relation to the conceptual model to determine if the service or model needs adjustments during the evaluation process.

Reminder

This resource was prepared by the author(s) using Federal funds provided by the U.S. Department of Justice. Opinions or points of view expressed are those of the author(s) and do not necessarily reflect the official position or policies of the U.S. Department of Justice.

Lesson Learned #4

It is an iterative process that requires time to reassess the agency's services and mission and the conceptual model to see where the agency fits and where it fits.

Lesson Learned

This resource was prepared by the author(s) using funds provided by the U.S. Department of Justice. Opinions or points of view expressed are those of the author(s) and do not necessarily reflect the official position or policies of the U.S. Department of Justice.

Outcome Eval Designs under Consideration

- Quasi-experimental designs using:
  - Propensity Score Matching or
  - Matched Comparison Groups
- Interrupted Time Series Design
- Pre-test, post-test

...further exploration to occur during process evaluation

... but what about the unexpected?

Did the model still work even while the COVID-19 pandemic changed the established service delivery processes AND the criminal justice system???

What Can You Use the Conceptual Model For?

Program Design

Program Evaluation

Telling your story to stakeholders and funders

Discussion

Thank you!

  - Maintain active networks with complementary legal providers & other victim service providers
  - File appeals, amicus briefs
  - Conduct public outreach & education on victims' rights/remedies
  - Document issues with implementation of victims' rights
  - Trainings for victim-involved stakeholders

Program Outcomes (Short-Term)

Victim/Survivor Outcomes

- Victim reports understanding their rights
- Victim reports having/understanding available legal options
- Victim reports being informed about status of case
- Victim reports being given clear expectations about processes & possible outcomes
- Victim reports feeling their views were represented
- Victim receives services tailored to their expressed needs
- Victim has financial & resource losses minimized
- Victim reports feeling protected from additional trauma due to legal participation
- Victim receives outcomes they perceive as just

Community Outcomes

- Communities are educated about victims' rights
- Communities are educated about victim options to seek legal & social services assistance
- Communities understand harms of crime

System Outcomes

- Courts
  - Case law developed
  - Courts are informed about victim rights
  - Victim rights enforced & victim rights violations reduced
- Attorneys
  - Legal actors in all sectors informed about victims' rights
  - Legal actors accountable for upholding victims' rights
  - Policy/practice in place for victim support referrals
- Law Enforcement
  - Law enforcement is informed about victims' rights
  - Law enforcement violations of victims' rights are reduced
- Networks established/MOUs in place between legal sectors
- Education and outreach materials readily available

Long-Term Objectives: Wellbeing for Victims/Survivors

Victim/Survivor Objectives

- Empowerment & self-efficacy
- Increased trust in legal system to operate fairly
- Survivors & families integrated into a supportive community
- Improved/restored financial stability
- Improved health and mental health
- Reduced vulnerability to crime

Community Objectives

- Communities believe that the justice system recognizes and enforces victims' rights
- More community members believe they will be treated well & fairly if they report crime
- Communities support use of resources/tax dollars to help victims & prevent crime

System Objectives

- Legal systems more responsive to victims' needs, providing a holistic approach to service provision
  - Strong, multidisciplinary collaborations & victim response procedures exist between all relevant legal & social services providers
  - All systems more trauma informed & responsive
- Legal systems stronger overall - all views (victim, defendant, state, and public) are represented & heard

* Legal system in which each activity occurs can vary by state.

All services are trauma-informed and culturally competent. Barriers are removed that would prevent access based on race/ethnicity, gender, disability, age, or English-speaking ability.

Approach is victim-led. Victim decides what they want from available options at every step while expectations are managed.
